Ermita de San Lorenzo Gran Reserva 2014
Ruberte - 75 cl.

This wine is a blend of a very old Grenache vine and some cabernet sauvignon coming from a higher altitude bloc on the sides of Mount Moncay. Hand picked.

Vinification
Aged for 36 months in French and American oak barrels, stocked in a 500 year-old cellar under the mountain.

Storage potential
15 years.

To serve
16°C.

Trial analysis
Cherry red colour with violet reflections. Fresh spices and ripe fruit notes, with a hint of roasted coffee. A well balanced structure with silky tannins. A long and pleasant finish. This wine will be an ideal match for red meats, rip cheese and stew.

Description domain

The perfect example of a family estate, with a lot of different parcels of family-owned old vines. Only part of the wines made here are bottled on the estate, most of the grapes and part of the wines being sold in bulk to other wineries. The flagship of the estate's wines is the Ermita de San Lorenzo blend.

Assembly
Garnacha (60%), Cabernet Sauvignon (40%)
